

Mr. Groen is noted as inventing the Filet-o-Fish sandwich for McDonald's in Cincinnati in 1961. By the time he retired he owned 43 McDonald's restaurants throughout Ohio, Kentucky, and Indiana. Mr. Groen told Ray Kroc, McDonald's founder, that they need to sell a fish sandwich on Fridays in the Catholic dominated Cincinnati area. Mr. Kroc told Mr. Groen he didn't want his franchise smelling like fish. In the spirit of competition they made a bet, Mr. Groen would sell his fish sandwich and Mr. Kroc would sell a Hula burger, a piece of pineapple with cheese on a bun., Mr. Groen outsold Mr. Kroc's Hula burger and the Filet-o-Fish has been on the menu ever since.

Mr. Groen loved and enjoyed this property for 22 years with his wife Edna. Sadly, Mr. Groen passed away at the age of 93, leaving the property he loved to Otsego County to be used as a nature preserve for the enjoyment of the community, especially its children.

The site was the location of the Johannesburg Manufacturing Company for which the town was named after. The preserve currently allows hiking, biking, equestrian uses cross-country skiing and snowshoeing. In the future, plans include adding a nature center facility along with nature classes, horseback riding, sleigh/wagon rides, as well as rebuilding some of the historic structures that existed on the property.
